The Glenora arrived Monday evening from an eventful voyage to the West Coast. She left Wrangell on Friday, December 19, with mail and other cargo for West Coast points. After going through Dry Pass the boat was caught in the ice causing a leak. Captain Dannenberg beached the boat near Anniessett point. He then made his way in a row boat to Token and engaged the Vermont and went back and took on the cargo of the Glenora. He then proceeded on the run as usual. A small portion of the cargo and some of the second class mail was slightly damaged. On the return trip the crew transferred from the Vermont back to the Glenora and succeeded in bringing the mail boat back to Wrangell and placing her on the gridiron at the Wrangell machine shop for the necessary repairs.

SURATT'S PICTURES A DELIGHT

Wrangell People Have Unique
Privilege of Seeing Northern
Pictures on a Local Screen—
Rex Theatre Crowded—
Spectators Enthusiastic.

The people of Wrangell enjoyed a rare treat Saturday night when a wonderful program of Northland adventure scenes by Richard Suratt was presented at the Rex theatre.

The first number was a trip to Le Conte glacier showing several views that were surprisingly beautiful. These glacier pictures were in blue-tone pink, the coloring having been done in the great Gaumont laboratory in New York City. It was a genuine tribute to Mr. Suratt's skill when a Wrangell audience, who knows Le Conte glacier so well, applauded his pictures because they were so beautiful and so true to nature.

All persons in the audience who had ever made the voyage up the Stikine had pleasant memories recalled when some of the amazing views of scenic grandeur along this wonderful stream were flashed on the screen.

Another series of pictures showed Indian packers roping and shoeing wild horses from the range, after which the audience was invited to take a hike over the old Dease trail with a pack train. As one viewed such primitive methods of transportation he could but wonder just how much advancement there would have been in the world today had there never been a railroad train.

A few sidelights on the great fur industry of the North was given by the picture showing the departure of a fur brigade for Liard post.

Generally speaking, the people of Wrangell know much more about gas boats and water travel than they do about automobiles and public highways. Yet the Wrangellites had a few new thrills in water transportation when they found themselves aboard a bateau running the "white water" with the primeval voyagers.

Many people in the audience recalled their own recent experience when they witnessed the scenes from a vaccinating expedition into the Liard by the well known Indian agent, Scott Simpson, who was assisted by the Rev. Frederick Thorman, the Episcopal missionary at Telegraph Creek who is also known in Wrangell.

The pictures of the Dogribs and Nahanis were particularly interesting. As a rule the Indians of Northern Canada are very docile, even though in a primeval state. However, the Nahanis are a hostile and murderous tribe. They have given the Northwestern Mounted Police considerable trouble in the McKenzie river regions.

Many other Northland pictures were shown, all of which were viewed with intense interest.

Mr. Suratt has made many Northland pictures and their merit is easily recognized. A number of the pictures shown

Christmas at Presbyterian Church

The usual Christmas exercises were held at the Presbyterian Church on Christmas evening. An extensive program was enjoyed by friends of the congregation. The gifts were numerous, and the candy and fruit much enjoyed by the children.

Alaska Fox Farm Valued $130,000

Growth of a fox farm industry on Kukui island off the coast of Alaska from 10 pairs of foxes to a band of an estimated value of $130,000 in the last four years was described by Claude Green, formerly a trapper, prospector and miner of the Coeur d'Alene district of Idaho, and one of the proprietors of the farm, during a recent visit at Spokane.

The foxes are fed a cooked mash of fish and shorts. The farm maintains its own fishing fleet, and yearly dries 20,000 humpback and dog salmon, Mr. Green said.

Orders on hand for foxes for breeding purposes now total $16,000 he declared, and $35,000 worth of hides will be sold during the present year. The farm was started with eight pairs of blue foxes and two pairs of silver foxes. More than 600 foxes with an average market value per pelt of $185 have been raised according to Mr. Green. —Seward Gateway.

Harold Dawes, law partner with Henry Roden, arrived from the north on the City of Seattle and will be here for several days. Mr. Dawes came south on legal business. —Petersburg Report.

G. H. Tozier came in this week from a fur buying expedition to Baronof island.

Saturday night were secured with great difficulty. Owing to a wet summer season he was handicapped by bad light and would often go for a week at a time without getting a picture. But Suratt is a man who has his heart in his work and pays little or no attention to discouragements.

The Gaumont company with which Mr. Suratt is connected is a French corporation with offices in 52 of the principal cities of the world. The pictures shown here were released on December 6 and first shown at the Rivoli and Rialto theaters on Broadway, New York. From 200 to 400 feet will be shown each week, and in a few months the many beautiful pictures which delighted the Wrangell audience Saturday night will have been shown all over the world.

During the year 1920 Mr. Suratt will devote much of his time to getting pictures that will tell the story of the salmon industry.

Much has been written about the Northland that is misleading, but Suratt's pictures tell a true story. They are taken from either nature or life just as it is found here in the far north, and his pictures could not be shown anywhere that they would be more appreciated than here in Alaska where everyone is more or less familiar with the scenes from which these remarkable pictures were made.

The Sentinel congratulates Mr. Suratt on producing frontier pictures of such exceptional merit and rare beauty—pictures that accurately reflect the life and physical surroundings at these Northern outposts of civilization.

Fox Fur Farmers All Doing Well

A party of Valdez citizens returning from a trip to the fox islands in Prince William Sound report that the fur farms are doing exceedingly well, many of those engaged in business for the past few years, having increased rapidly in stock and the owners expect to reap a valuable harvest this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bush and Dominick Vietti are planning to stock an island with animals in the near future and are dickering to secure the foundation for their future.

Louis Van and Steiner have things comfortably fixed for the winter, with wood cut and plenty of feed in. They have a large number of animals, located on Axel Lind island and they will kill 30 animals this season.

C. W. L. Beyer on Fairmount island, also has prospects of a prosperous season, having numerous animals and plenty of feed and water about. Mr. Beyer has been in Alaska 30 years and states that he has never seen as fine a winter as the present one.

J. D. Jefferson, former postmaster of Valdez, is located on Bald Head Chris island. He has nearly a hundred foxes from his original half dozen and has sold several to other parties.

Wagner & Lilgren of Naked Islands, have a large number of foxes that are prime and will kill enough to pay them well for their isolation.

It is stated that Joseph Ibach, who has made a small fortune at Middleton island with his foxes, is planning to stock Glacier island.

Prince William sound is peculiarly fitted for fox farming as the waters never freeze and there is an abundance of feed for the animals. The fur is also thick and glossy. —Valdez Miner.

S. A. Plumley, Lawyer, Locates at Petersburg

S. A. Plumley has located in Petersburg for the practice of law. His professional card appears in another column. Mr. Plumley was formerly located in Ketchikan.

Reindeer Market Quotation

The chief of the reindeer industry in Alaska is offering deer for sale at $33.33 per head, and several white residents of the Territory are making arrangements to enter the business. Reindeer raising is a coming industry, and one which requires little capital after the initial herd has been secured, as the animals take care of themselves, with the exception of a herder to keep them from straying.

Another Petersburg Wedding

Chester A. Johnson and Miss Winnifred Grenier were quietly married in Petersburg on December 20. The young couple will make their home in Petersburg. The groom is a returned overseas man, and a brother of Mrs. Clarence Lawrence of Wrangell.

Mrs. Charles West will entertain the members of the Ladies' Aid Society at the home of Mrs. I. C. Borge with a (gift) party, on Wednesday afternoon, January 7, 1920. All members are requested to be present.

Mrs. Geo. H. Barnes, Vice-president.

NEWS NOTES FROM ALL OVER ALASKA

The winter mail route between Circle and Fairbanks is now open.

Dr. F. M. Boyle was elected president of the Anchorage Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting.

George Mowl, pioneer of Skagway, died there last week. He was a tailor by trade and also proprietor of the picture show at Skagway.

Through the efforts of Rev. E. S. Bollinger, an order of "Americans" has been formed at Valdez.

Kennecott has blossomed out into society and a dancing school has been started, patronized by the elite of the town.

The first week in the month will be Good Speech week in the Cordova schools and the school is preparing for it by planning posters, slogans, etc. For each slip in speech the student will be fined one penny.

Theresa Guies arrived at Cordova recently on her way to visit relatives in Fairbanks. The little miss who is but seven years of age, made the trip from New York without inconvenience or discomfort.

Henry A. Slater has completed the assessment of Cordova for this year which shows a valuation of $1,398,445, of which amount $1,085,595 is for real estate and $312,850 for personal property.

A large oil painting of Mount McKinley has been completed and will soon be hung in the foyer of the Empress theater at Cordova. The painting is by Sidney Lawrence. People who have seen the picture say it is a masterpiece.

Thirteen carloads of newsprint paper were recently shipped from Ocean Falls to New York for the Times. The paper was made from spruce logs cut on the Queen Charlotte Islands for airplane purposes. The Government has sold large supplies of lumber left over to the plant to make paper of.

Through recommendations and the support of L. D. Henderson, commissioner of education for the Territory of Alaska, the schools at Cordova will have a moving picture machine installed. Mr. Henderson offered to pay 75 per cent of the cost of the machine out of the territorial funds if the directors would pay the other 25 per cent, which offer was accepted. The machine will be of great benefit in teaching history, natural history and scientific subjects. This is the first school in the Territory so far as known to install this innovation.

Russian paper money of half a dozen or more brands was left in Nome last month by sailors given shore leave from Admiral Kolchak's gunboat, the Yakut, when it spent several days there taking on supplies. Bills brought by the sailors carry the stamps of the old Russian government. Kerenky government, the Kolchak administration, the Bolshevik officials and several Russian provincial governments. As the money was of doubtful value none of it passed at face value at Nome.

The Country Church Is the Nation's Bulwark. Go to Church.

act is MORE POWERFUL THAN A DOZEN SERMONS. Clear thinking people are quick to see that there is something REALLY WORTH WHILE AND SUBLIME in the church.

THE COUNTRY CHURCH LAID THE FOUNDATION FOR THE LATER SUCCESS IN LIFE. READ THE LIVES OF THE GREAT MEN OF THE COUNTRY. THEY TAKE PRIDE IN RECALLING THEIR EARLY RELIGIOUS TRAINING—THE FINE IDEAS THAT WERE INCUKATED WHEN THEY WERE YOUNG. SURELY THEY PUT TO SHAME SOME OF THE SCOFFERS AT RELIGION AMONG THE FLIPPANT YOUTHS OF THIS MATERIAL AGE. YOU CAN COUNT ON YOUR FINGERS THE NUMBER OF SUCCESSFUL MEN WHO DO NOT GO TO CHURCH.

The plea of some who have fallen away from the church is that they are TOO BUSY to attend church. Yet men whose time is WORTH $100 OR MORE AN HOUR do not begrudge an hour or more for God on the Sabbath.

No man is too busy to attend church. If he is successful he should GO TO CHURCH to thank God for his success. If he is struggling he should ask God's help.

Raising Siberian

Rabbits Is New and Profitable Industry

C. Dahl who has a rabbit farm on Spuhn Island which is across the Bar from Juneau, is selling the products of his ranch in Juneau. He is raising the big Siberian rabbits and has been having a steady sale for the animals at fifty cents a pound dressed. These rabbits are valuable for their fur and it is said that the quotation on them at the present time is $15 for each pelt. Mr. Dahl has disposed of about one hundred pounds of rabbit meat on his trip to town.—Empire.

Mr. Jefferson has not been to town for nearly a year.—Empire.

More Pearl Oil (kerosene) is being sold this year for heating, cooking and lighting than ever before, according to the Standard Oil company. Since the chilly weather has come, the demand for this convenient and economical fuel has almost exceeded the supply. Housewives everywhere are evidently coming to appreciate fully the comfort, convenience and economy of heating with a good oil heater and Pearl Oil. There is no greater combination of chill and damp chasers anywhere.

Christmas at St. Philip's

The Christmas services, both midnight and morning, were well attended.

The popular feature of the day was the Bible school Christmas tree celebration, on Christmas evening at the Gymnasium. The first play was Santa Claus, Junior. Dorothy Johnson was the hostess at a party, and being mad at "Fred Moore" invited Santa Claus, Junior instead. Kendal Northrop was her practical, matter-of-fact, common sense brother. James Waters was the boy, "Doubting Thomas;" Gertrude Carlstrom and Wilfred Gartley wanted to know where the dolls and skates come from. Marjorie Johnson and Erma Grant were the sarcastic guests, and they all centered around Santa Claus, Junior, James Wheeler, who answered their questions in a sharp, shrewd way.

In this play there were several delightful recitations. The little people reciters were Annie Osborn and Gerald McGlynn. There was a dialogue by Warren Gartley and Gertrude Goodrich. A splendid duet by the Misses Johnson was sung with Miss Erma Grant at the piano. Gertrude Osborn gave the "Turkey's Lament," and Helen Hodges, though only eight years old, recited with the composure and force of an accomplished elocutionist. The play closed by a chorus from the whole company.

After the play came recitations by Esther Johnson and Martha Ukas. Three others were, Nellie Rowley, who represented the loquacious old maid shopper; Lloyd Tucker, who gave "The Small Boy's Confession;" Joel Wing who most feelingly gave John Kendrick Bangs' "Santa Claus' Assistant."

The final play was "Mrs. Santa Claus Militant." Mrs. Santa Claus' part was well taken by Helen Fletcher. She surprises the old negro servant, Noah, in a rich man's house. Noah's part was taken by Robert Edmunson, who saw the fun in his part and made the audience see it too. The second scene was in the home of the poor family. Margaret Northrop was the mother of six children, supporting the family out of her meager earnings. There were the baby and the two small boys, David Davis and Raymond Wheeler who did want their marbles and balls. The older boys' parts were taken by James Wheeler and John Grant. Muriel Davis, a girl of 10 was mother's assistant, and Ralph Davis took the part of Santa Claus. The parts were all difficult and well taken.

After the program, the Christmas presents and prizes were distributed. The rector received a small, old ivory cross, a gift from the Guild.

"Ye spare moments." They may make us wise or they may make us foolish. How shall they be used? Shall they be used so as to give us the disease known as "The morning after the night before," or shall they be used so as to make us stronger? Will this not lead to a proper New Year's resolution? What shall it be? Epiphany service—Candlemas 8 a. m., Tuesday, January 6.

Christmas at the Government School

The Government School observed Christmas by a program and tree in the schoolhouse last Wednesday afternoon.

The tree had been brought in during the previous week and had afforded the children the greatest pleasure in trimming and decorating it day by day. Each child made a number of gifts for his family and as soon as one was completed it was placed on the tree.

The program was as follows:
Bible Reading—Mary Williams
Song—By School
Recitations—Fannie Johnson, Philip Hooker, Martha Ukas
Song—Lottie Blake
Recitation—Emma Shakes
Song—Fannie Johnson and Alice Skaanis
Recitation and song—Mary Paul
Dialogue—Lottie Blake, Philip Hooker and Harry Berkley.

The program closed by speeches from Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus represented by little Frank Skaanis and Margaret Shakes in costume.

Gov. Thos. Riggs, Jr., a few days ago cabled to Dr. S. C. Shurick, acting assistant surgeon, that he was sending the Bureau of Fisheries boat, the Murre, to Wrangell to be at his service. For some reason, probably rough weather, this plan was changed. A second message from the governor stated that the Bureau of Fisheries boat, Auklet, had been instructed to report to the acting assistant surgeon at Wrangell. Dr. Shurick states that he expects to make a trip to Shakan the latter part of the week.

Old Time New Year Calls

In the late sixties, says G. H. Putnam in "Memories of a Publisher," New York had not yet outgrown certain of its old fashioned or so called provincial habits. One of the customs was that of making New Year's calls, a practice that had been inherited from the Dutch founders of the city. Long before the beginning of the twentieth century the growth of the metropolis had made impossible this pleasant and convenient habit of coming into touch (at least once a year) with a circle of family friends, but in 1866 the ladies still stayed at home on New Year's day, and old men and youngsters did what they could in the hours between 11 in the morning and midnight to check off with calls of from five to fifteen minutes their own visiting list with that of their wives, their sisters or their mothers.

In my own diary for Jan. 1, 1866, I find the entry, "Made thirty-five calls." I remember on that day coming back in the middle of the afternoon for a word with my mother and finding old Mr. Bryant in her parlor. It was sleeting violently outside, and the luxurious young men of the day were going about in couples. It was the practice, in order to save expense, for two or three men to join in the expense of a carriage for the day. Mr. Bryant, however, had trudged through the sleet and in response to some words from my mother of appreciation of his effort in coming out in such weather replied cheerily: "Why, I rather like a fresh temperature, Mrs. Putnam. It is only the young men who are chilly and lazy."

Fifteen or eighteen years later New Year's calls in society had become a tradition of the past.

A post card was received this morning from Ray Ready who is now in Hong-Kong, China.

E. G. Wetzler, superintendent of the mail service in Southeastern Alaska, is in Wrangell today.

A watch-night service will be held at the Salvation Army hall at 11 o'clock this evening. After the regular service at 7:30 p. m. refreshments will be served.

George Radenbaugh was found guilty of having liquor in his possession at Ketchikan a few days ago.

John S. Hume, formerly in the cannery game in Southeastern Alaska, was married recently to Miss Alice Lee Davidson of San Jose, California. She was formerly a teacher in the Seattle public schools.

Miss Margaret Bronson took passage to Petersburg on the Admiral Watson which was in port Tuesday night.

A class of five candidates were initiated into the Redmen's lodge Tuesday night. The novitiates were Judge Wm. G. Thomas, O. W. Billion, Loyal John Binkley, G. W. Upshaw, Charles M. Binkley.

H. Moses returned to Juneau on the Admiral Watson.

There was midnight mass at the Catholic Church Christmas night.

N. M. Tate and J. Reed of Union Bay are in Wrangell this week.

Christmas at Bayview

By Envoy Collins
Native Salvationist

The following is a brief account of our Christmas activities: Johnnie Nickerson, Army Post Sergeant-Major, was appointed to collect money for Christmas candy and apples. He raised $115 in one day. Our program was given on Christmas night, and the candy and apples were given out together with the large number of gifts on the tree. It took a large force of men over two hours to distribute everything that was brought in. A collection was taken at the entertainment for the small number of poor in our village. We have only four people in need, and for them we raised $71.15, the entire amount of which will be distributed to them by the Army officers.

The program which was excellent, was given by the children of the town, assisted by the Town Band and the choir of the Presbyterian Church.

During the program a number of speeches were made by the older men in which they took occasion to refer to the progress that has been made during the past 20 years. Prior to that time most of our people lived in old Tuxecan. There were no sidewalks; many people were without shoes. Fifty people lived in one house no better than a smoke house. But through the influence of the Gospel brought to us by the Salvation Army and the Church they turned away from the old customs that led to poverty.

Now, in our village, we are living in modern houses. This fall and winter there are 13 new houses being built, besides plans for a cottage hospital which we hope to see under way soon after the first of the year. Everything is changed through the teaching of the Church and the Government school.

At one of the canneries during the summer some of the men were training a young bear and a young seal which they had captured. Before very long they knew where to go to get their food, and every day when the dinner bell rang they could be seen going toward the mess house. We want the people of Bayview to be as wise as the young bear and seal, and remember that it is the Church and school that has brought the great change among us, and never turn their backs on these institutions.

The Salvation Army is doing good work this winter and every department of the work is in good condition.

On the next trip of the mail boat Envoy Collins will go into Wrangell to look after the interest of the Salvation Army work.

Sincerely,
Envoy Collins.
